Condo Developers Seek Another Site In Ballardvale

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The developers who tried unsuccessfully to build townhouses on Sidney White's Andover Street property are thinking about taking another stab at building condominiums in Andover.

Douglas Wacome of Wynwood Associates Tuesday night told the Planning Board that his firm is interested in building condos on a 16-acre site off Charlotte Drive, which is located off Woburn Street between South School and Enfield Drive.

The development would consist of four two-story buildings with four units in each, creating the same density — one unit per acre — that would exist with single-family houses. The site is steep, but it has little wetlands and is served by town sewers.

Wacome said the units would be marketed at $80,000, compared to $170,000 for the single-family homes that could be built on the site as an alternative.

Wacome and his partner, John Fulton, petitioned a special town meeting in November 1981 for a zoning change that would

Building Again On Block

The former Cardinal Cushing Gymnasium on Haverhill Street, once a town-owned building, is up for sale again, the TOWNSMAN learned this week.

Dr. Lawrence Spiegel, chairman of the Andover Industrial Development Finance Authority, said Tuesday it is his understanding that the building is for sale.

He added that several potential buyers have inquired about obtaining state CARD (Commercial Area Revitalization District) funds to renovate the building.

The former Sacred Heart School gymnasium (which was, in an earlier incarnation, the Crystal Ballroom) is owned by Drs. Sanford Kaufman and Joseph Guerrara. Dr. Kaufman declined comment on the status of the vacant building this week.

The two doctors purchased the compact brick building from the town for $60,000 after 1980 annual town meeting authorized the sale. They sought IDFA funding to renovate the building into offices, but never obtained any town or state financing, Spiegel said.

The owners were instrumental in winning CARD designation for Shawsheen Village, the first such district in Andover. That designation makes small businesses eligible for low-interest bonds to help improve commercial properties.

Before the selectmen sold the building, it stood vacant for some time. Proposals to use the building for storage for the nearby Andover Companies and as a day care center both met with opposition from Shawsheen neighbors.

The Rickard family, active in Andover's Unitarian-Universalist Church, will be moving to Little Rock, Arkansas, to continue their work with the church.

Building Off In '82

New construction in Andover was off somewhat in 1982, probably due to the economy, but Building Inspector Sam DeSalvo forecasts an upturn in 1983.

To Discuss Parents' Covenant

Dr. Larry Larson and Supt. of Schools Kenneth Seifert will present a proposal for a Parents' Covenant at the Andover High School Parent Advisory Group, Wednesday, Jan. 19, at 7 p.m. at the high school. Larson and Seifert work with parents to discuss issues special to adolescents and to define limits that most parents can expect one another will set.

Their appearance resulted from a concern among high school parents who wanted to know what each other's family standards were. For example, some parents allow teenage drinking in their homes—others do not. What should a parent say to a child who is attending a party where they know liquor is to be served? And what are the legal ramifications of allowing drinking in the home?

These questions and others will be discussed. All high school parents are invited to attend. Meetings of the Parent Advisory Group are held monthly.

Nomination Papers Obtained

School committeemen Richard Neal (chairman) and Donald Robb have taken out nomination papers in pursuit of re-election to their positions on the board.

Town Moderator James Doherty has also taken out nomination papers for re-election to his post.

Town elections will be held March 28. Nomination papers, with 101 signatures of registered voters, must be filed with the Board of Registrars by Feb. 14.

In addition to the two school committee positions and the town moderator's post, the terms of selectmen Gerald Silverman, Edward Harris, and Housing Authority member Winston Blake are up this year.

Harris has announced he will not seek re-election. Silverman and Kenneth Buck have taken out nomination papers, and Buck has already filed his with the Board of Registrars.

Task Forces Begin Their Work

The task forces that will help formulate Andover's new comprehensive plan are getting down to work, planning consultant Ronald Curran reported to the Planning Board Tuesday night, electing their chairmen and establishing their agendas.

The planners' own task force, the land use group, will hold its first meeting at 8 p.m. tonight at the Essex Street theatre building. That task force is the largest "by far," Curran said, and will have "the most material to review — 800 to 900 pages" of information on the

Curran warned that the biggest "danger" the task forces face is getting bogged down in discussions of "immediate issues and immediate problems, rather than looking at where we are and where we want to be five and ten years down the road."

In addition to land use, the six task forces will study capital improvement, redevelopment and reuse; transportation and commerce; schools and community services; public safety and health; and housing, business and industrial development.

Budget Work On School Board Agenda

Schoolmen will continue their first pass on a 1983-84 budget when they meet Jan. 18 at 7:30 p.m. at the Shawsheen School.

The school committee is beginning the budget process by handling the least flexible accounts first.

On Tuesday, according to Business Manager Frank Paul, they will consider four accounts — transportation, oil, heat, utilities and the programs-with-other-districts account, often called the tuition-out account.

The tuition-out account includes special needs instruction for students who must be serviced outside of the Andover school system. A total of $314,658 is requested for this account. The fiscal 1983 figure was $216,500, and a deficit of about $100,000 is expected.

Accounts approved by the committee at its last meeting were fixed charges/insurance, the school committee, legal services and the superintendent's office accounts.

Korumnas Commissioned

Navy Ensign Mark S. Korumnas, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Korumnas, 9 Abbot Bridge Drive, Andover, has been commissioned in his present rank upon graduation for Officer Candidate School (OCS).

OCS, located at the Naval Education and Training Center, Newport, R.I., is designed to prepare students to assume the duties and responsibilities of commissioned officers.

During the 16-week course, candidates studied the principles of leadership, manpower management techniques, navigation and communications. They also studied Navy history, traditions and missions, the structure and organization of naval commands, military courtesy, uniform regulations, seamanship and the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

AMC Walk

The Andover Committee of the Appalachian Mountain Club will sponsor a cross-country/snowshoe (hike, if no snow) trip in the Ward Reservation in Andover on Sunday, Jan. 16.

Mar Marcus will lead the group which will assemble at 1:30 p.m. on the Prospect Street parking lot (off Salem Street) at Reservation entrance.

College Provides Intensive English Course For Residents

It's not what you would call your average, everyday class.

Among the students there's a gentleman from China who has lived in Nicaragua and speaks Chinese and Spanish. There's a native of Puerto Rico who is on leave from the U.S. Navy. And there's a housewife, born in Laos, who wants to re-enter the job market.

In all, 12 Greater Lawrence residents who are natives of eight foreign countries are currently enrolled in an intensive two-week course in the English language, offered tuition-free by Merrimack College's Division of Continuing Education.

Offered for the first time by the college, this non-credit course is specifically designed for individuals who have some proficiency in the English language but want more skill in speaking and writing to advance their studies or careers.

"The course is presented on an intermediate to advanced level," explained the assistant dean of continuing education, Kevin Synott. "There are many bright and talented foreign-born residents in the Merrimack Valley who are limited in their ability to communicate in the English language and therefore, are locked in by language barriers."

The course is being funded by Merrimack College and plans are underway to expand the course for Merrimack Valley residents. "The college is presenting this as a community service," said Synott. "We feel this course will benefit the residents and businesses in the Merrimack Valley."

Patricia Hennessey, a Merrimack College English teacher, and Elaine Wilson, an English-as-second-language teacher who has directed the ESL program at Phillips Academy, are instructors of the course and agree with Synott.

"The intermediate to advanced ESL programs take foreign born persons beyond the basic survival skills," explained Prof. Hennessey. "By developing their English language skills in these type of courses, they can advance their studies and their careers. And companies that employ foreign-born workers will benefit as well."

"There are people taking the course so that they can enter the job market; there are people taking the course so that they can do their present job more effectively."

Film Series To Begin At Academy

The Andover Film Society and the Addison Gallery of American Art begins its yearly Winter Film Festival with George Lucas' "THX 1138" on Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Kemper Auditorium at Phillips Academy, Andover. The films are open to the public and a donation of $2 for adults and $1 for students is requested.

"THX 1138," one of the great science-fiction films, is an expanded version of the prize-winning short film which brought international attention to Director Lucas who later made "Star Wars." Set in the 25th century the story revolves around a man and a woman who rebel against their rigidly controlled society. Robert Duvall stars in this stunning film of the future.

The film series continues Jan. 23 with the German film, "The American Friend;" Jan. 30 with the Polish "Man of Iron," a fiction account of the growth of "Solidarity;" Feb. 13 with Agnes Varda's "One Sings, the Other Doesn't;" Feb. 20 with the Brazilian extravaganza, "Black Orpheus;" and Feb. 27 with Luis Bunuel's classic "Veridiana."

Children's Author Is Guest

In a continuing series of programs funded by the South School PTO, Author Carol Carrick will speak to third and fourth grade students at South School on Jan. 18. She will make a slide and tape presentation. The children are familiar with some of her work, "Lost in the Storm," "The Accident," "The Foundling" and others.

The committee in charge of the program is at work finding out details for other possible speakers for the series.

Engineer Awarded Patent

Gary Martin, 15 Dascomb Road, Andover, was recently awarded a U.S. Patent for his invention of an adaptive equalizer useful in digital radio systems.

The patented equalizer reduces both amplitude and phase distortion resulting from fading of a received radio signal.

He received his Bachelor's of Science degree in Mechanical Engineering from Oklahoma State in 1973 and his Master and PHD degrees in Electrical Engineering from Stanford.

Martin joined the Bell System in 1978 and is a member of technical staff working in the digital radio department.

Chamber Elects Two Directors

Robert M. Henderson and Fenton W. Varney have been elected directors of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce. In making the announcement, Chamber President J. Eric Bornhofft stated that the election was to fill vacancies created by the resignation of two directors who have left the Greater Lawrence area.

Henderson became president of Andover Savings Bank in 1963. He joined the bank as a branch manager in 1953. He is chairman of the Savings Bank Political Action Committee 1981-83, past chairman of the Savings Bank Association of Massachusetts, former president of the Lawrence YMCA and Greater Lawrence Mental Health Center. Dedication

The playground at St. Augustine's school was recently renovated and given a new surface. Following completion of the work, the area was dedicated to the late Sister Mary Rosalie, SND, who had served as principal of the school for ten years. A prayer service and program was attended by many parents. Here, Brother Thomas Schady, school principal joins the eighth grade choir in a musical presentation.

Local Banks Sponsor Tax Repeal Effort

In a joint statement, Andover Savings Bank, Community Savings Bank, First Essex and Lawrence Savings Bank announced that they are sponsoring a local effort to convince Congress that it should repeal a new federal law which will require tax withholding of 10 percent of interest and dividend payments effective July 1. Similar efforts urging Congress to repeal withholding are being initiated in numerous other communities across the country, the statement noted.

"It's a bad law which should never have been enacted in the first place, and even the Congress is now coming to realize this," stated Richard C. MacGowan, executive vice president and treasurer of Andover Bank. Several bills to repeal the 10 percent withholding requirement have already been introduced in Congress, he said.

The four local banks are making it possible for area residents to cast their "votes" to repeal withholding by stopping in at any of their branches and filling out "ballots" which will then be transmitted to the state's two senators and to the appropriate congressman, he explained.

"Our banks strongly oppose this new withholding tax because it is unnecessary and unfair to savers and investors," MacGowan emphasized.

"It is unnecessary because people's interest and dividend payments are already subject to Form 1099 reporting and even the Treasury Department admits that compliance under information reporting is in the area of 95 percent," he pointed out.

"Furthermore, withholding is unfair because it will lower savers' earnings by depriving them of income which they would otherwise receive from reinvestment and compounding," he continued.

"If there is a strong enough protest from the people back home, the Congress in Washington will have no choice but to repeal this unfair and unnecessary law," MacGowan concluded.

Before applying adhesive paper to shelves and drawers, make patterns with newspaper. Transfer the patterns to the lining paper and cut for better fit.

Joins Staff

David Aaron Klein, M.D., a member of New England Neurological Associates, North Andover, has joined the staffs of Lawrence General Hospital and Bon Secours Hospital.

A graduate of the University of Texas Health Sciences Center in San Antonio, Klein interned at Boston City Hospital and did his residency at the Neurological Institute of Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center in New York.

Klein, an Andover resident, holds a teaching appointment in clinical medicine at Boston University Medical School.

Legislative Issues To Be Discussed

Merrimack Valley Advocacy for Mental Health will present a program in the Community Room of the Lawrence Savings Bank, 342 North Main St., (Shawsheen) Andover, Tuesday, Jan. 18, at 7:15 p.m.

The featured speaker will be Mrs. Harriet Ahouse of Andover who is the editor of the Mental Health Bulletin, a news letter published by Mass. Assoc. for Mental Health. She has served for many years on the boards of Greater Lawrence Mental Health and Retardation Area Board and Greater Lawrence Mental Health Center Inc. For 2½ years Mrs. Ahouse has worked as a research staffer for State Rep. William Robertson from Melrose. Recently she was a candidate for Massachusetts State Representative from the Andover/Lawrence District. A graduate of Trenton State College, she has done graduate work at Boston College.

The profusion of mental health bills introduced in the State House is overwhelming. Legislators get most of the information upon which they base their decisions on pending mental health bills from professions. Mrs. Ahouse will explain and discuss these bills and answer questions.

The public is invited to this free program. If the weather is threatening, contact Olga Chepulis to learn if the program has been postponed.

Artisan Guilds Being Formed By Valley Arts League

The Merrimack Valley Arts League is forming artisan guilds. The guild concept dates back to medieval times when merchants and artisans of similar trade and interest would form an association for their mutual benefit, protection, maintenance of standards and furtherance of purpose. It is the desire of MVAL to act as an umbrella organization for the many and varied artistic expressions of the valley.

The guilds of the Merrimack Valley Arts League would form their own membership, share teaching, exhibiting and working space, be responsible for their equipment and materials. Each guild would be responsible for sharing in the overall financial and operational success of MVAL. To become part of a guild, contact Joan Wilde for pottery and ceramics, Kirk Thompson for artists, Sandra Pomeroy for woodworkers, Becky Arnold for dance, Sarah Stratton for photography, Margot Porter for crafts, or Ann Zakiewicz for weaving and fiber.

Serious artists and artisans interested in seeing the space available at the Ballardvale Mill may call either Bev Darling or Margot Porter for an appointment.

The next open meeting of the arts league will be Wednesday, Jan. 26, at Memorial Hall Library at 7:30 p.m. Ann Russell will speak on the art of preserving manuscripts, documents, books and paintings and show slides to illustrate the process involved. Since 1978 Russell has been director of the Northeast Document Conservation Center, located on the property of the former Abbot Academy campus. Prior to that she was assistant director of the Decordova Museum in Lincoln.

The public is welcome to attend and hear an update on other MVAL activities.

Women Artists In Exhibit At Gallery

The Andover Gallery is presenting an exhibition of three women artists, Lenore Hill, Marjorie Moore and Elizabeth Rickert. Each is unique and depicts the environment using a creative and imaginative style of her own.

Hill received her diploma from The Art Institute of Boston, continued study at Wheaton College in Norton and Radcliffe Institute in Cambridge. She received her M.F.A. from Massachusetts College of Art in Boston in 1982. Her work has been exhibited in Boston area galleries and museums. Hill taught in several college art departments. She uses handmade paper, glued wood and grape vines to make her energetic and vigorous non-representational paintings. Her work has a light whimsical quality, while conveying a freshness and innovativeness that is exciting.

Moore received her B.F.A. from Syracuse University. Her work has been shown extensively in Maine and galleries in Pennsylvania, Mississippi, New Jersey, Tennessee and Wisconsin. She is included in many private and public collections. Moore works in a combination of pencil, watercolor and enamel paint on paper. She lives in northern Maine and effectively captures the essence of this rural part of the country.

Rickert received her B.S. from Towson State University in Baltimore, MD. She has exhibited her work in Boston, New York, Washington, Philadelphia and Millburn, N.J. She was listed as a "Critic Tip" in the "Boston Globe" in 1982 and had her work selected to be used as book covers in 1980. Rickert works in pastels of industrial subjects. Her technique brings beauty to a most unusual subject, which is one of the inequities that makes this work fascinating.

The three-person show runs through Feb. 12. The gallery is located at 68 Park St., Andover. Gallery hours are Tuesday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The public is always welcome to browse. For information, call the Marilyn Kaplan at the gallery.

Aging Parent Talk At Library

A continuing discussion on "You and Your Aging Parent," sponsored by Lawrence General Hospital, Lawrence, will be held Wednesday, Jan. 19, at Memorial Hall Library, Andover, at 7:30 p.m.

The discussion, part of the hospital's community outreach series, will be led by Lauren Ambra, R.N., of Lawrence, continuing care nurse, and Stephen Burke, A.C.S.W., of Methuen, director of social services.

The focus will include many of the problems facing family members with increasingly dependent aging parents, including financial burdening, family stress and conflict and guilt related to added responsibilities.

Burke holds degrees in social service and has had extensive experience with older patients. Ambra formerly worked in the community as a visiting nurse and has been working with elderly patients at the hospital for the past year. She has extensive knowledge of community resources.

The lecture is free and open to the public.

There are believed to be 20 or more languages, including six North American Indian languages, in which no one can converse because there remains only one speaker alive. Eyak is still spoken in southeast Alaska by two aged sisters if they meet.

Joining Andover Church Led To New Direction

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The church felt to them, from the beginning, like home, like family, and during the past ten years the church has seen them flourish.

Now, like children grown and ready to leave home, they are heading for new enterprises.

Jean and David Rickard of North Reading joined the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Andover in September, 1972. Almost immediately, Jean became a Sunday school teacher and David, a fund raising organizer.

On Jan. 26 the Rickards and their two sons (Michael, 15, and Kenneth, 13), two cats and two cars will move to Little Rock, Arkansas, where Jean will become the full-time minister of the Unitarian-Universalist Church, and David will work as a professional fund raiser for Unitarian churches from across the country.

"Secretly, I think we were ready for a total change in our lives," Jean says. "That's part of why it feels so right to be moving."

"It's scary, to pick up the whole family and be moving 1,500 miles," David adds. "But it's forcing a life change that I really wanted."

Jean, a native of New York and a Tufts University graduate, met David, an Indiana native and DePauw University graduate, while both were working for the Federal Aviation Administration in Washington, D.C. Jean worked as a computer systems analyst; David still works for the FAA in Burlington as a navigation and environmental specialist and long-range planner.

Both raised as Methodists, the couple became Unitarians during the late sixties. "The fundamental basis for the church is an emphasis on an individual search for truth," Jean explains. "There is no dogma and no creeds. We help each other, but in the last analysis, it is an individual search for God, truth, reality. And the church is radically committed to the democratic process and freedom of belief."

David adds that the Unitarian church stands for "ethical and moral principles that I hold very important — the dignity and worth of each person, the right of each person to find their own theology, their own way of relating to the world, and a strong belief in the congregational polity — that is, that each congregation will decide how it will develop and set its own goals."

The Rickards moved to New England from Washington in 1972, when David entered a master's program in public administration at Harvard, and they "did a lot of church-shopping" in the area, Jean says.

They settled on the Andover church because "we felt very at home there. It was a very free and open church. They were open to new things, they didn't feel bound by ancient traditions. The people were also extremely friendly."

Jean and David plunged into church activities with enthusiasm: "The church is small," Jean explains, "and anyone who is eager to assume responsibility is encouraged to."

"It was a very rewarding opportunity to work with people who hold the same values in common," David says. "And kind of like Topsy, it kind of just grew," he adds with a smile.

And always, the Rickards' mutual involvement in the church gave them "a sense of shared purpose" that, he believes, has strengthened their marriage.

Jean started as an inexperienced and nervous Sunday school teacher in 1973; in 1974, she chaired the church Religious Education Committee; by 1975, she was coordinator of religious education. A year later she decided to become a professional religious educator, and that meant taking courses at the Unitarian seminary school in Newton.

"Once I was at the seminary, I began to think in terms of the ministry," Jean remembers. "It grew on me, and I knew that was what I really wanted to prepare for." During four years of study at the seminary, she prepared to become both a minister of religious education and a parish minister.

Her years of training were hectic, including a year as student minister and director of religious education at the Andover church (1977-78), and four years as a half-time director and minister of religious education at the First Parish Church in Cambridge.

"But I always stayed involved, at least with the social life, with the Andover church," she notes. "They have been my cheering section and my support group — that's my home church."

Since last fall, Jean has been interim minister of the Unitarian-Universalist church in Concord, N.H. It is the first church where she has been the parish minister — and she loves the role.

"It really is very much living so that you're there for others," she says, "and it's very much a two-way thing. You're only as effective as there is a communication back and forth."

She most enjoys "meeting with people, the one-to-one," but preaching runs a close second. "I really love it in the pulpit," she says, smiling, "because it is a place of power and authority. It really is a joy to be given the opportunity to speak about things that are deeply meaningful to me."

As a Unitarian minister, all of Jean's authority "derives from the people," she explains. "It's not handed down from above. Your effectiveness, power and authority are there only as the people give them to you — and it's amazing to see it happen, to feel it happen."

"The pulpit has a lot of authority granted to it, and that's both humbling and wonderful — you might put that, wonder-full."

David, who calls himself "an organization-type person and an institutionalist," started in the Andover church by helping to run a fund drive, and soon graduated to the position of director of stewardship, dealing with church finances and property.

In that role, he supervised the former church plant at 244 Lowell St. — which was not always easy — and later helped plan the sale of that building. (The congregation currently meets at the November Club.)

For the past five years, he has served as clerk of the church, organizing fund drives and acting as the official recordkeeper for the church corporation.

David is currently serving a four-year term on the eight-member national Unitarian-Universalist Planning Commission, which plans annual general assemblies for church members from all over the continent. The next assembly will be held in June

Moving South

The Rickard family, David and Jean, with sons Michael and Kenneth, will be leaving soon to accept new work with the Unitarian church in Little Rock, Arkansas.

in Vancouver, British Columbia.

In addition, he served for two years on a committee that studied ways to improve service to more than 1,000 congregations; and as president of the Massachusetts Bay district of Unitarian churches, serving 62 church societies in the eastern part of the state.

He explains the importance of religion in his life: "For a number of years, I had no use for organized religion. But I have come to the belief that community is essential to personal development, and that to ignore the religious side of your nature is to be less than a full person."

Over the years David has seen changes in the Andover church — and in himself. "There's a much greater sense of being a religious community," he says. "We've taken some risks together. Selling the building and moving into the November Club — that was a substantial risk, but we brought it off and I think we're a better group for it."

"And I'm a much more relaxed and open person than I was ten years ago. The environment of the congregation, the community, has offered opportunities for personal risk and personal growth. It's a very supportive atmosphere."

Jean traces her changes as well: "I have a much greater sense of my self-worth and integrity and power — power in the positive sense of the ability to achieve a purpose.

"When I look back at my early days in Andover," she continues, "I know that I had the right instincts, but I had so many questions. I was working on sheer guts and energy and trust. And looking back now, I think, Gee, I did pretty good for not knowing."

Moving to Little Rock appeals to the whole family — even though Jean admits her first thought was, "Arkansas? Who moves to Arkansas?" But the state is "very pretty, hilly, with pine and oak forests," she says. "It feels like the right church and the right area."

"It's a challenge and an opportunity to speak out for liberal religion in the Bible belt," she adds. "I have a sense of real urgency and message. I think that's pretty exciting, to go where your message really makes a difference."

As for David, he's looking forward to "taking six months to reassess my life and where I want to be" — a step he says he would not have taken if the family had remained in this area.

He plans to continue working as a professional fund raiser and consultant — and to write a book, along with Jean, on the process of finding a minister and a ministry: while Jean was searching for a church, David was chairing the search committee for a new minister for the Andover church. (That search led to the appointment of Rev. Rosemarie Smurzynski, a good friend of Jean's.)

The Andover congregation will send off the Rickards with a farewell dinner at Bishop's restaurant Friday night. In the middle of the inevitable adjustments and their new challenges, will Rev. and Mr. Rickard have time to miss the Andover church?

"There's not much question about that," David answers quietly, as Jean nods. "They're a lovely bunch of people." "There's a spirit of joy and life at that church," Jean says. "It's like a large extended family."

Stressing Safety

Deputy Fire Chief Harold Wright recently presented South School youngsters with a program on fire safety, presenting films, slides and literature. The program is being conducted throughout the Andover schools during the year. The presentation at the South school was sponsored by the Howe Insurance Agency.

Meeting To Discuss Health Care

When, where and how to use the health care system in the greater Andover-Lawrence area will be addressed by a panel of specialists before and open meeting of the health care committee of the League of Women Voters of Andover on Monday, Jan. 17, from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the Senior Center, 11 Essex St., Andover.

Panel members will be Mary Hamilton, R.N., public health nurse for Andover; Dorothy Winn, director of elder affairs for Andover and member of the regional health care planning committee; George LeMaitre, M.D., local surgeon; and Hubert Johnson, M.D., of the Greater Lawrence Family Health Center.

The public is invited to attend and add their questions to those posed to the panel by the committee. The LWV is in the third year of a state study of health care and the current emphases are on quality and accessibility. Committee questions are: 1. What are the present methods of quality assurance in your field of expertise and how do you feel they could be improved? 2. What do you see as the major problems affecting access to health care in Massachusetts? and 3. How can a consumer best determine where, when and how to use the health care system?

The panel will provide local information for the mid-February consensus meeting which will contribute to the state LWV position on health care.

Watershed Council Gets Grants

The Merrimack River Watershed Council, a private citizens organization, announced the receipt of two major grants to continue its work in the upper Merrimack Valley totalling $29,000.

One grant, the first installment in a two-year program to extend Greenway and community planning into the New Hampshire Merrimack Valley, was from the Bruce J. Anderson Foundation in the amount of $17,000, and will be used to finance a new program in the Granite State as far north as Concord.

The second grant, for $12,000, was made by the Theodore Edson Parker Foundation in recognition of the council's successful Comprehensive River Strategy, where the emphasis was in the tidal Merrimack from Haverhill to Newburyport. The Parker Foundation helped to create the Merrimack River Protection Fund with a grant last year, and will now assist in financing another specific land-use action plan in the river west of Haverhill, with emphasis on the reaches above and below the City of Lowell.

Council President Nate Tufts stated that "while our membership continues to grow, dues from citizens cannot finance a major river protection study. We are tremendously pleased that our work in the reaches from Haverhill to the Atlantic has gone so well, and that this foundation has seen fit to provide the needed funding for a Phase III Greenway study and community action strategy up-river from Lawrence to the New Hampshire border."

The New Hampshire concentration represents a new recognition of the need for two-state coordination, and the indivisible nature of the 5,000 square mile basin that creates the Merrimack River resource. While the council has always had a small New Hampshire membership, staff and funding limitations did not permit the kind of specific river ownership, land-use study and constituency-building in the Merrimack Valley communities that is the basis of a successful river protection plan in Massachusetts.

Check For JellyBeans

While those little candy jelly beans became a popular item with the Reagan administration, locally, the name Jelly Beans has become synonymous with a group of youthful entertainers from the Andover-North Andover YMCA who have made presentations to nursing homes, senior citizens and other groups, particularly during the holiday season. The Andover Lodge of Elks recently provided assistance to the group through the presentation of a $500 check for the purchase of a portable, electric organ. Here, Bill Walsh, exalted ruler of the Elks receives the appreciation of Cathy Dawson, of the YMCA, center and Josie Walker, jelly beans director.

Keystone Series To Begin

Keystone, Bon Secours Hospital's eight-part educational program for individuals with cancer, as well as their families and friends, will begin its winter series on Jan. 18. Offered free of charge as a public service, Keystone addresses a wide range of cancer-related topics through an informational and non-threatening format. Each segment will be held Tuesdays at 7 p.m. in hospital's Sister M. Cornelius Cremin Memorial Family Suite.

According to Luanne Nugent, R.N.C., coordinator of patient, family and community health education and Keystone advisory board member, the program will take an indepth look at cancer by examining related methods of care and treatment including: communication with family members, medications and radiation therapy, and the role physical exercise plays in maintaining a positive self-image. Each segment will include a question-and-answer period with emphasis on information sharing. Speakers from the hospital's departments of education, social service, pastoral service, nursing service and Outpatient clinic will lecture. Group facilitators, Judy Toomey, R.N., B.A., and Judy Perrone, R.N., B.S.N., will lead each program to assure that participants receive the information they require. They have been involved with the Keystone program since its inception in 1981.

For a copy of the new, updated Keystone brochure or for information, contact the hospital's department of education.

Therapist To Discuss Sex Education Program

"Parents are a natural source of sexual information for children. Kids really do want to find out about sex from their parents, but in today's society it seems to be taboo," according to sex therapist Lyman Gilmore, Ed.D., chairman of the New England Association of Sex Educators, Counselors and Therapists. The topic of Bon Secours Hospital's January Healthy Issues program will be "The Who, What, When, Where and How to Tell Your Child About Sex." The program will be held Wednesday, Jan. 19, in the hospital's auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Gilmore will provide practical advice on how to be at ease when answering a child's sex-related questions and how to maintain open, two-way communication. He will also discuss how parents can best identify the type of information their children are ready for and at what age. A nationally-known lecturer, Dr. Gilmore has presented various programs of this type at Bon Secours Hospital for parents and adolescents.

After receiving his doctorate in education from Boston University in 1971, Dr. Gilmore became director of teacher education at New England College, Henniker, N.H., and is a professor of education there. A certified sex counselor and educator, Dr. Gilmore has a private counseling and consulting practice in Antrim, N.H.

Bon Secours Hospital's Healthy Issues series is a monthly community health education program offered free of charge as a public service. For more information, contact the community relations department.

Committee To Examine Joint Hospital Concerns

In a joint statement released recently, Bon Secours and Lawrence General hospitals announced the formation of a special joint committee to study and discuss current hospital industry concerns and how they affect the health care delivery system in the service areas of both hospitals.

"The committee has been established as part of both hospitals' continued commitment to maintain the highest standards of medical care services in the community; but specifically, to carefully to evaluate the effect of growing regulatory pressures, competitive alternative delivery systems and economic restraints confronting the efficient delivery of those services," said Judge John E. Fenton, Jr., president, Bon Secours Hospital, and co-chairman of the Joint Discussion Committee. "Our primary purpose will be to develop an appropriate response to these issues which impact the availability and accessibility of hospital-based health care services already in place in our community," he added.

According to Walter C. Wilson, Jr., trustee,

Lawrence General Hospital, and co-chairman of the Joint Discussion Committee, the committee will meet regularly to engage in a comprehensive evaluation of alternative options for the delivery of health care in the Greater Lawrence and southern New Hampshire areas as well as surrounding townships.

Wilson stressed that the Joint Discussion Committee "will have as its overriding objective to insure high quality health care and related medical services for the lowest possible cost for all who look to both hospitals for their health care needs."

Prior to making specific recommendations to the governing boards of both hospitals, the committee will engage in a consultative process with the administrative, medical and dental staffs of both hospitals as well as the ecclesiastical authorities and Sisters of Bon Secours affiliated with Bon Secours Hospital.

Committee members are Atty. Clifford E. Elias, Judge John E. Fenton, Jr., David W. Hepworth, Cornelius J. McCarthy, Milton J. Meyers, D.M.D., Joshua L. Miner, Joseph R. Rokous, M.D. and Walter C. Wilson, Jr.

Andover Artist Featured In Exhibit At Addison

A special exhibition of the work of four artists opens Friday, Jan. 14, at the Addison Gallery. The work of each artist occupies one of four adjoining galleries in the museum.

The paintings of John Jagel of Somerville range from larger figure in landscape allegories to smaller surreal dreamscapes and still life paintings. Particularly powerful are large, full-face portraits synthesized from images of self and friends and an electric ink portrait of Antoine Artaud. Jagel's work will be included in an exhibition at the American Academy and Institute of Arts and Letters in New York City next month.

Pat Keck of Andover fabricates from wood cloth and found minutia a personal cult-world of new wave humans, humoids and animals. Humorous, but hauntingly portending possible future worlds, Keck's creatures project real psychic space in a life system we can only begin to imagine. She recently received a commission from the Cambridge Arts Council to design and build a 40' boat in the form of an alligator.

Betsy Kaiser is the sole subject of Michael Kaiser's 44 photographs in the exhibition. Taken over the last four years, the photographs tell as much about the caprices of the medium and its capacity to alter the apparently real as they do about the great variety of visual presences, appearances and moods of the subject. In fact, the range of those visual presences is so broad as to suggest that the subject is actually several individuals raising the fundamental question of whether it is the woman's changing persona or the act of photography itself which is responsible.

John O'Reilly's collages also challenge the location of reality by visually synthesizing new images from visual fragments drawn from old photographs, prints, reproductions of old master paintings and advertisements from popular current magazines. With the skill of a plastic surgeon, O'Reilly assembles a meta world in which a Cezanne sky lights a California veranda, or the artist himself sits in a room with Rembrandt. As in the case of Keck's sculpture, there is humor, but there is also an eerie sense of the possibility of transcending time, of imagining something into reality and concretizing that new reality in evocative and powerful visual representations.

All four artists flirt with the fantastic and the surreal while producing distinctive works of art. Viewing their work together enhances the possibility of understanding it all in greater depth and meaning.

The exhibition continues through Feb. 13. Gallery hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday; 2:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Sundays.

The institute is co-sponsored by the New England Association of Chiefs of Police and the Babson College School of Continuing Education, funded by a grant from the United States Department of Justice.

The objective of the training program is to provide command officers with the skills needed to exercise effective management practices and procedures in order to gain the most from those under their direction. Command training concentrates on the operational aspects of the command officer's responsibility, seeking to extend existing programs and provide a vehicle for instruction to those who must supervise the daily operations of various departments.

To achieve this goal, the institute offers courses in community relations, decision making, planning, staffing and other management and human relations subjects.

Over 3,300 law enforcement officers from all the New England states have completed courses at the institute.

'Godspell'

The musical "Godspell" returns to Boston on Wednesday, Jan. 19, at the Charles Playhouse
for a five-week engagement.

"Godspell" is based on the Gospel according to St. Matthew.

One of the most popular shows ever staged, it ran for six years in New York.

Presented her by Charles Kirkwood of New Genesis Productions, the current show will be directed by Stephen DeAngelis, who has appeared in several incarnations of "Godspell."

People wear wedding rings on the third finger of their left hand because an ancient belief held that a nerve runs directly from that finger to the heart.

"We confess our little faults only to persuade others that we have no great ones."
— La Rochefoucauld.

IDS will feature an easy to understand overview of the new tax law as part of a personal financial planning seminar at the Sheraton Rolling Green Inn and Conference Center, Route 133, Andover, on Jan. 19 at 7:30 p.m.

J. Robert Mershon, CLU, and Mark A. Mershon, local representatives for IDS, said the seminar will cover the effects of the 1981 tax law, as well as the 1982 law. In addition, they said, the seminar will discuss the effects of inflation on income and savings, fixed and equity investments, how to plan and achieve financial goals and personal budgeting.

"This seminar is for the person who wonders why he or she has so little to show for a $20,000-plus income," the Mershons said. "Even if a person's income never changes, a person will probably manage more than $500,000 in a lifetime. Sound financial planning, based on educated decisions, can help preserve income, improve buying power and minimize the effects of taxes."

The seminar will also cover the benefits of financial planning, wills and estate inventories.

Hospital Achievements Reviewed

Bon Secours Hospital's annual meeting held Tuesday, was highlighted by a review of the hospital's activities and achievements for calendar year 1982, in a report by Judge John E. Fenton, Jr., president. Presentations on Chapter 372, Massachusetts' new cost containment law, and its impact at Bon Secours Hospital, the hospital's industrial medicine program and the Bon Secours Salem Health Center were also made.

Among the noteworthy events cited by Judge Fenton were:

Laser ophthalmic surgery, the most up-to-date surgical procedure for treating and controlling glaucoma, was made available through the hospital's outpatient clinic. Patients who formerly would have had to undergo major eye surgery are now able to receive treatment through a quick and painless procedure in which an argon laser is used to alleviate damaging fluid build-up in the eye.

Bon Secours Hospital received its second "Energy Management Award" in two years from the American Hospital Association; this time the hospital was recognized for realizing a 14-percent reduction in energy consumption over the past two years.

The hospital's laboratory installed an Automatic Stat/Routine Analyzer System (ASTRA) that provides a quick analysis of blood chemistry for patients whose medical situations require immediate laboratory results.

Bon Secours Hospital received a two-year accreditation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JSAH) after undergoing an intensive, on-site survey of various hospital departments. The two-year accreditation is the maximum term of award possible under the current JCAH program.

For the fourth year in a row, Bon Secours Hospital received a "Certificate of Recognition" from the American Hospital Association for its efforts to maintain costs and productivity.

TPR/Things People Report, Bon Secours Hospital's quarterly publication, received an Award of Excellence in the New England Hospital Public Relations Association's 1981 Awards Competition.

Bon Secours Hospital held a week-long celebration designed to recognize the integral and vital role nurses play in the day-to-day operation of the facility.

Nineteen eighty-two concluded the year-long centennial celebration of the Sisters of Bon Secours in the United States. In honor of the Sisters' Century of Caring, the hospital's year-long program included a special newspaper supplement on the Sisters of Bon Secours, a dinner for area clergy and religious, the installation of the Century of Caring logo in the hospital's front circle, the development of the first floor hallway exhibit on Bon Secours Hospital and its services, a dinner in honor of the Sisters hosted by the medical staff and several other special events designed to recognize the tremendous work of the Sisters of Bon Secours.

The Men's Guild contributed $47,000 (the largest annual gift ever) as part of its five-year pledge of $250,000.

Bon Secours Hospital was again accredited by the Massachusetts Nursing Association (MNA) as a provider of continuing education programs for registered nurses.

Construction of a new helicopter landing site was completed in September, made possible through a $15,000 donation from the Salem Kiwanis Club.

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the Bon Secours Salem Health Center, located in Salem, N.H., highlighted the conclusion of a successful six-month determination of need process. Scheduled to open in March, the center will provide residents in Southern New Hampshire with local access to primary care services through an ambulatory clinic, surgical day care facilities and an occupational health program.

The Bon Secours Medical Library installed a new Medical Literature Analysis and Retrieval System (MEDLARS) to provide expedient and comprehensive bibliographic research relevant to any specific medical topic requested.

The Bon Secours Hospital auxiliary presented a $90,000 check as its first installment of a $267,000 pledge to be used for patient room furnishings.

The Bon Secours/Lawrence General Joint Continuing Medical Education Program received a four-year accreditation from the Massachusetts Medical Society (MMS) as a provider of continuing education for physicians.

Bon Secours Hospital concluded its successful year-long capital campaign, Expansion '83: New Dimensions in Kindly Care. A total of more than $2.7 million in contributions was achieved, surpassing its minimum goal of $2 million.

Bon Secours Hospital's Cardiac Care Unit installed a new computerized monitoring system which has the capacity to record four clinical parameters at once, allowing the staff to monitor not only the heart rate, but the pressure in the pulmonary arteries, the arterial blood pressure and respiration as well.

Bon Secours Hospital celebrated the completion of its new two-story West Wing addition with special appreciation ceremonies designed to recognize the dedication and generosity of all those who made the building program possible.

Bon Secours Hospital established the first complete pulmonary physiology laboratory in the Merrimack Valley.

Bon Secours Hospital installed a Burroughs 1900 computer to make possible a computerized admissions/medical records/accounting system to streamline admission procedures, cut down on paper work and provide staff and physicians with timely, up-to-date information on patients.

Bon Secours Hospital's division of external operations enjoyed a successful year with the development of an occupational health program to provide area industry with a full range of health and medical services; the introduction of Healthy Habits, an educational program designed for the industrial setting using, posters, brochures, reference cards and table tents to focus attention on different monthly health topics; and the announcement of a first-of-its-kind working relationship between Bon Secours and Cedardale Indoor Tennis, Health and Racquet Club, Inc., to provide club members with health-related services to complement their fitness programs.

Auditions

The Merrimack Valley Dance Collaborative, Inc. will hold their winter auditions for their performing company, "The Broadway Babies," on Thursday, Jan. 27, at their headquarters at 205 Essex St., Lawrence, at 7:30 p.m. Non-dancing singers and actors are also welcome.

New Sanborn School Boilers Result In Energy Savings

By John P. Sawyer

In a report to the school committee on the maintenance of the Sanborn School, new oil burners installed in May, 1982, are listed as one of the more significant projects completed in recent years.

In 1981-82, the school used 24,819 gallons of fuel oil as compared to 31,277 gallons in 1980-81. But electricity consumption was up, with 100,980 KWH expended in 1981-82 as compared to 93,780 KWH in 1980-81.

The Sanborn School, because of its location, type of construction and concern of its occupants, requires less maintenance than other school buildings, according to Schools Superintendent Dr. Kenneth Seifert's report.

Here are some of the more significant maintenance projects completed recently at the Sanborn, in addition to regular repair work, as listed in the superintendent's report:

ELECTRO-MECHANICAL: Piping replaced on boiler feed system in summer, 1978; electric-generator rebuilt in October, 1979; extensive repairs to exhaust fans, pneumatic heat controls and univents in summer, 1979; boiler refractories rebuilt and steam traps replaced in summer, 1979; new oil burners installed in May, 1982.

in June, 1980; lawn maintenance program, including fertilization, aerification, weed eradication, limestone flow, started in September, 1980; play area and adjoining walkway repaved in front of school in fall, 1982.

BUILDING ALTERATIONS: Changes to existing toilet room and facilities installed for handicapped students in August, 1978; rooms constructed for counseling/tutoring area in August, 1980; doors replaced at kitchen receiving area in October, 1980; music room soundproofed — block wall extended to roof and insulation added above tile ceiling, September, 1980.

GENERAL: Roo. repairs and preventative maintenance on flat roof areas in June, 1981; entire exterior and most of interior painted in spring and summer of 1981; new interior lighting added in several areas in summer, 1980.

Tax Tips

Mortgage prepayment, whether recourse or non-recourse, at a discount results in taxable income in the amount of the discount, the IRS has ruled.

An individual taxpayer, in order to take advantage of a 10 percent discount being offered by his lender for early payment of low interest mortgages, prepaid the remaining balance of mortgage indebtedness on his personal residence. Like the cancellation or reduction of any debt, the IRS reasoned that the cancellation or reduction of a liability incurred to purchase property produces taxable income unless the discharge of indebtedness occurred as the result of bankruptcy, insolvency or the discharged indebtedness was qualified business indebtedness. Since these exceptions did not apply, the payor had to include in gross income the amount of the discount on the mortgage prepayment.

Economy Slowed Building In '82 But Expected To Be Heavy In '83

By John P. Sawyer

Building permits were down in 1982, but according to Building Inspector Salvatore "Sam" DeSalvo, "We're going to have a heavy '83 and '84."

Permits totalled 980 at an estimated value of $34,143,040 in 1982, with total fees collected $215,777. These figures represent 164 fewer permits issued than in 1981, with the total estimated value of all 1982 permits $7,776,235.45 less than in 1981. Fees collected in 1982, however, totalled $14,491 more than in 1981.

1982 building permits, as compared to the previous year, were down in almost every category. For example, new dwelling permits totalled 73 at an estimated value of $3,- 922,534, while in 1981, 99 new dwelling permits were issued at estimated value of $4,958,400.

DeSalvo believes those numbers indicate response to higher interest rates, and he predicts an increase in new dwelling permits in 1983, with perhaps 116 new houses to be built this year in Andover.

Thirteen fewer new business permits were issued in 1982. The estimated value of new business was $189,000 in 1982, as compared to $7,436,700 in 1981.

But DeSalvo links this category with new industrial permits, which held even in 1982 at a total of 20, with an estimated value of $24,288,000 as compared to $393,000 in 1981.

DeSalvo believes the number of new business and new industrial permits to be issued in 1983 will hold their own or perhaps even increase over 1982, especially if the economy improves and additional high tech industries move into Andover.

"I anticipate another 10 years of growth in Andover," he says, adding that the "Greater Lawrence area has no place to go but up."

DeSalvo explains that much industrial land is still available for development here in town. He points out that Wang Laboratories, Inc., already owns about 138 acres and Digital Corp. likewise owns about 166 acres. Development is active now in the River Road and Lowell Junction areas of town.

In addition to the availability of industrial land, Andover's location near Routes 495 and 93 make it desirable, and DeSalvo adds that Andover offers a lot for the tax dollar. He credits town officials for doing a good job in bringing high tech growth to Andover.

Here's how other building permits in 1982 compared to those issued in 1981:

ADDITIONS and alterations to dwellings, including garages: 440 permits issued in 1982 at an estimated value of $1,782,571, as compared to 551 permits issued in 1981 at an estimated value of $1,897,763.

BUSINESS permits for additions and alterations: 23 permits issued in 1982 at an estimated value of $905,313, as compared to 30 permits issued in 1981 at an estimated value of $584,092.45.

An Industrial Dilemma

It was inevitable that at some point in time there would be rising concern about continued industrial development in the West Andover area.

For the past decade or so, the Andover Industrial Tech Park has had a somewhat phenomenal growth, with the development of new structures mostly devoted to the High-Tech industry.

During that period, the town welcomed these additions as valuable contributions to improvement of the tax base.

But, now, with the possibility of still further growth in the area, West Andover residents are becoming increasingly concerned about the effect of additional industrial development in their neighborhood.

The prime concern, of course, is traffic.

The particular section of West Andover is a far cry from the rural farmland with a popular ice cream stand which was once a prime attraction in the area. It is now an area providing employment to hundreds of people from all points in the northeast with travel patterns which must be addressed, and will be at a special hearing to be conducted by the selectmen on Jan. 24.

It would be easy to look at the area and judge that the industrial development has been beneficial to the town and continued growth would affect only 20 or more families in the particular area.

But, in fairness, those families have a considerable personal investment in their property and the town and should expect to have the community be cognizant of the problems they face.

These will be addressed at the hearing on Jan. 24.

It would seem that above all, such a hearing and a thorough examination of problems inherent in continued industrial development in West Andover, is timely.

While major high technology firms have land holdings in the area, construction of any new buildings are probably on hold due to the current status of the economy thus providing a time element for planning.

One developer, who seeks to build an office-park type complex off Old River Road, is going through the various hearings which determine whether or not construction will be possible in accordance with local bylaws.

Already the developer has been denied an initial permit until the conservation commission can be satisfied that environmental protection can be insured.

This is the type of protection residents of the community are provided through the town boards and commissions which oversee major development in Andover, and the town has gained a reputation for strictness in this regard.

The matter of traffic, however, is a difficult one to overcome.

West Andover residents can look down Route 93 a short distance to Ballardvale to be made acutely aware of what industrial development can do to an area.

Residents there have put up with difficult traffic conditions for nearly 15 years, with promised relief from the state coming almost annually, but performance still lacking.

Among traffic relief measures promised for the West Andover area is a completion of a cloverleaf off Route 93. But, as Ballardvale residents can attest, promises hardly respond to the needs. They have been awaiting an access road into Lowell Junction for years.

It would seem, then, that the meeting scheduled for Jan. 24 is an important one, not just for West Andover residents whose concerns are of a personal nature, but for the town as well.

It should set the pattern for determining if through proper dialogue, continued industrial development can be accomplished in the area harmoniously.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — January 1908

The complaints about spitting on the sidewalks in front of stores and public places are many. The offenders possibly do not know that this is prohibited by law. Chapter 410 Section 1 of the Acts and Resolves read as follows: No person shall expectorate or spit, upon any public sidewalk, and etc., upon the floor of any city or town hall, in any public library, etc., in any railway station or waiting room, or any sidewalk or platform connected therewith.

It may be the census idea that a woman who is merely the mother of a family has no occupation, but the job keeps her pretty busy just the same — Indianapolis News.

On Thursday evening, a large deputation of the executive committee from the Royal Clan, Boston, visited Andover for the purpose of installing the officers of the newly formed Clan Macdonald A.O.S.C. The installation was proceeded with, the ceremony being performed in grand style by Royal Chief Fisher and Royal Henchman Yule.

The time on the Boston and Northern street railway between Andover and Lawrence has been changed, fewer cars being run than formerly. The 15 minute cars do not run now until after four o'clock in the afternoon and are taken off after half after seven.

50 Years Ago — January 1933

Two members of the School Board, Mrs. E.V. French and Clifford W. Donnell, and one member of the Board of Public Works, J. Harry Playdon, will not be candidates for re-election, according to statements made by them to the Townsman this week.

Work on the Stowe school library is rapidly advancing, and it is expected that some ample space will be available for the books. The central Parents-Teachers' association took the matter of a library up at its last meeting, at which time two students asked for assistance. Mrs. Claxton Monro, Miss Reta V. Atkinson, and Mrs. Mitchell Johnson were appointed as a committee to look into the matter.

The name of Stevens still remains on the Board of Directors of the Andover National bank as a result of the election Tuesday of Abbot Stevens, brother of the late S. Dale Stevens who died last week. The two brothers represent the fourth generation of Stevens' to be on the Board of Directors of the National bank, and ever since the bank's founding in 1826 there has been a Stevens among the stockholders.

A bill for unemployment relief has been drawn up by a joint committee of the Massachusetts Selectmen's Association and the Massachusetts Forestry Association. Copies have been distributed among members of the Andover Garden Club.

25 Years Ago — January 1958

The School Committee stuck to its guns Tuesday night, voting to put its new salary scale into effect in 1958. And the Committee also voted a record budget total of $1,032,175, including a sum of $83,000 for the new salary schedule. They acted after a warning from the Finance Committee that their action would help to hike the 1958 tax rate to $84.

The Andover Board of Trade has decided to insert an article in the town warrant asking the voters to approve buying a portion of the Barnard property for off-street parking. Members of the Trade Board also approved and promised to support a suggested article calling for the purchase of the property behind the fire station, to Bartlet street, if the selectmen will sponsor the article.

The Board of Public Works has temporarily barred the press from its meetings, until it can arrive at what it considers suitable regulations and stipulations for press coverage.

The Andover Housing Authority ran into opposition last week to its proposal to use two acres out of some seven of the undeveloped Basso property near the Playstead for 30 housing units for the elderly. The Authority said they had considered Carmel Woods since it, too, was town owned land, but the state experts had felt it was too far from shopping and churches compared with the Basso site.

WEEKLY SPECIAL

Reagan's Pentagon pick has shady business pastBy Jack Anderson and Joe Spear

WASHINGTON -- President Reagan's new selection for the No. 2 post at the Pentagon is a businessman named Paul Thayer. He is supposed to be the cleanup man who will cut out waste in military spending and put the Defense Department's fouled-up weapons programs back on course.

In corporate circles, Thayer is regarded as a Renaissance Man. He's as much at home in the cockpit of a stuntplane as he is at the head of a boardroom table.

But court records and documents in the files of the Securities and Exchange Commission paint an entirely different picture of the Pentagon's "Mr. Clean." The records, reviewed by our reporter Jock Hatfield, refer to Thayer's tenure as executive director and board chairman of the LTV Corporation. They show that the company -- under Thayer's leadership -- has been linked repeatedly to charges of fraud, mismanagement, deception and violation of federal securities laws.

Thayer himself has never been indicted for misbehavior. He is technically clean. In the peculiar phrase once used to describe CIA chief William Casey, Thayer may be "not unfit" to hold an important job in the government.

It is curious, however, that the White House apparently had little knowledge of the shady aspects of Thayer's career before the nomination was sent to the Senate for confirmation. The information should have been turned up in the routine FBI investigation that all presidential appointees must undergo.

But, according to White House Deputy Counsel Richard Hauser, most of Thayer's previous problems with the government went undetected. "We were unaware of any SEC matters involving Mr. Thayer," said Hauser. "We were not aware of any problem which would bear on Mr. Thayer's future performance."

As a result, the Senate Armed Services Committee, which "advised and consented" on the nomination, had limited knowledge of the negative information about Thayer's background before it passed on his appointment last month.

Here are some of the items that the senators might have wanted to investigate:

-- In 1973, Thayer was charged with illegally "dumping" 2,400 shares of LTV stock in violation of a written agreement. The agreement was required by federal law, which forbids executives from speculating in their own company's stock. Thayer was cleared when the court found that he had sold the stock to pay off gambling debts and loans, not to cash in on inside information.

-- In 1978, the government charged LTV and its directors -- Thayer was not mentioned by name -- with overvaluing the inventories of a subsidiary by $26 million. Investors who purchased the stock sued and won a $7.75 million out-of-court settlement. SEC investigators recently concluded that LTV's management did not enforce "the standards of ethics that a properly managed company should maintain in its accounting practices."

-- In 1978, Thayer's conglomerate was convicted on 48 counts of conspiracy and fraud in its operation of a subsidiary business-school chain. It seems that LTV kept tuition money from students who had federally insured loans but who dropped out of the schools. The prepaid money should have been refunded. LTV was fined $500,000. The fraudulent practice went on from 1968 to 1973; Thayer's tenure as executive director of the company began in 1970.

WORST TERRORISTS: According to internal FBI documents, the Puerto Rican terrorist group called FALN is the most active in the United States. This is the pusillanimous gang that claimed responsibility for the New Year's Eve bombing of government buildings in New York City that wounded three policemen.

States one FBI report:

"Puerto Rican terrorist groups will continue to be the most frequent perpetrators of terrorist incidents in the U.S., as they have been for the past five years."

During that period, there were more than 300 incidents of terrorism in the United States, and the FALN is believed to have been responsible for more than a third of them.

However, the FBI may be making headway. The group was crippled recently by the arrests of several of its key leaders.

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES: Beginning last week, the taxpayers are footing the bill for the health-care premiums of top-level Postal Service officials. The backdoor pay raise, said spokesmen, was necessary to entice valuable employees to stay on the job. But the move has infuriated lower-level postal workers who still have to pay for their own insurance.

-- A classified CIA report claims that the Soviet Union's economic woes will result in decreased arms sales to its allies in the Western Hemisphere. The Kremlin is expected to market most of its weapons to its friends in the Middle East, South Asia and North Africa. This means that Russia's allies in Central and South America will get fewer arms.

Kitchen Design

David A. Clement, designer

If the undersink plumbing in your kitchen allows space for a wastebasket, here are two good ideas. The first involves using a metal ring holder that pulls out on a sliding track. The track may be attached to the inside of the undersink cabinet. The wastebasket may be pulled out of its holder for disposal or pushed back under the sink when not in use. A remodeled, or new, kitchen can be designed with a flip-out waste bin. Its front matches the kitchen cabinetry. When tipped forward, the waste bin can be fitted with a wastebasket to accept kitchen waste.

There are several things you can do to this under-used spot depending on what you need most. WINDSOR KITCHENS will be glad to show you all the alternatives. We offer quality workmanship at competitive prices and our workers are neat as well as licensed and experienced. We're easy to find in Ward Hill at 1181 Boston Rd., on Rte. 125, just 1/2 mile north of Western Electric or phone 372-3444. Andover Hockey Association

Danvers League PeeWee A

Andover 6 - Charlestown 4

Andover played a rough game in Danvers with 17 penalties committed during the course of the game. In the first period, Andover outskated Charlestown which paid off when Patrick Breen got a breakaway at the 10-minute mark, deked the goalie and scored. Right afterwards, Hugh Maginnis and Robert Stoltz got a 2-on-1. Maginnis fired the puck at the Charlestown's goalie who made the initial save. The puck bounced out and Stoltz put in the net to give Andover a two-goal lead. Andover got a string of penalties that left the team short-handed for the last half of the period. The momentum shifted and Charlestown scored on a deflected shot from the point. With two minutes left they tied the game on a well-executed 2-on-1.

Second period action started with Charlestown still on the offensive. However, the defense of Johnny Gilmartin, Chip Stella, David Sopp and Tommy Tormey managed to slow them down. Shots on net were handled nicely by goalie James Berberian. Frustration set in and Charlestown began committing penalties. Momentum then swung back to Andover. Halfway through the period Matt Pothier sent a nice pass to Maginnis on a 2-on-1 break. Maginnis put the puck past the Charlestown goalie to put Andover ahead for good. Two minutes later Sopp sent a nice pass to Andy Weiner who broke around the defense and beat the goalie with a nice shot to the left post. Twenty seconds later Tormey stole the puck in the Charlestown zone, walked in and blasted a slapshot past the goalie. The period ended with Andover ahead 5-2.

Third period action was rough with 11 penalties being called on both teams. Andover played with minutes out of the 12 shorthanded. However, defense and goaltending held until the five-minute mark when Charlestown scored on a second shot on a puck that was just lying in the crease. With two minutes left Charlestown scored on a breakaway to make it 5-4. Things looked bad, but with 30 seconds left, Breen tepped out of the penalty box, intercepted a pass and broke in alone on the Charlestown goalie who was trying to reach the bench. As the goalie tried to get back in position, Breen fired the puck to score the final goal of the game. Charlestown outshot Andover 23-19. Good goaltending by James Berberian, particularly in the third period, kept Andover on top.

Wilmington League

Andover 4 - Somerville 3

Andover played a strong game in Wilmington and came away with the win. First period action was characterized by excellent defense. Joey Lyons, David Sop, Johnny Gilmartin and Patrick Breen played well and shut down Somerville's offense. Goalie James Berberian handled the shots on net very well. Both teams were skating well, but it was not until there was eight seconds left that there was a score. Andover scored first when the line of Robert Stoltz, Tommy Tormey and Brent Raftery got a 3-on-1 break. Gilmartin started the play when he got the puck to Raftery who drew Somerville's defense and sent the puck to Tormey who fired the puck by the goalie.

Second period action was similar with both teams skating well, but again defense and goaltending was strong. Somerville got on the scoreboard when they got a breakaway from their zone. Their forward skated n, deked and beat Andover's goalie. On the faceoff they got an instant replay and scored a second time. In all, the two goals were scored in seven seconds, giving Somerville the lead. Andover was able to score on the next shift when Stoltz got the puck to Breen when facing off at the Somerville blue line. Breen took the puck just as the two Somerville defensemen were converging on it and broke through them, deked the goalie and put a hard shot by him to tie the game at 2-2.

The third period was played very aggressively. Andover was shorthanded starting the period, but got a goal to regain the lead. Stoltz got the puck to Raftery in Andover's zone where they broke up ice and into Somerville's zone. Raftery took it deep and sent the puck to Breen on the blue line. Breen skated into the center as Stoltz screened the goalie and fired a slapshot that hit high in the back of the net. Two minutes later Andover was again shorthanded. Raftery, on right wing, stole a pass at Andover's blue line, swung up ice and fired the puck as he reached Somerville's blue line. The arc on the puck fooled the Somerville goalie and Andover scored its second shorthanded goal. Somerville began playing very aggressively which resulted in their getting several penalties in the last half of the period. However, it paid off on one shift when they scored with two minutes left on a deflected puck from the slot. The period ended with Andover having earned a well-deserved win.

Warrior Icemen Even At 1-1

At the end of the first week of league play, the Andover High School hockey team record stands at 1-1 with a 7-3 loss to a powerful Chelmsford team and a 3-2 victory over the Haverhill Hillies.

First period jitters proved costly to the Warriors against Chelmsford as they allowed five unanswered goals and found themselves deep in the hole at the end of the first stanza. Second and third period goals by John Morris, Jay Downey and Greg Sacco fell short and Chelmsford went on to win.

The Warriors went to work at Haverhill and in a closely fought contest came out on top. Dave "Smiley" Tiberii scored the winning goal with just four minutes left to play, with super help from Downey and John Jones.

Rick McCloskey started the scoring for Andover with a beautiful breakaway goal in the second period to tie the game at one each. Bill Donovan pulled the Warriors ahead as he punched in a goal from around the net.

Haverhill tied it up early in the third period and set the stage for Tiberii's late-period heroics. The Warriors dug in with fine defensive play and held on for the win. Sophomore Jones had an excellent game. Barry Moore was in net as the Warriors outshot Haverhill 33-13.

Andover travels to Billerica Saturday for a 4:40 p.m. game and faces Greater Lawrence Wednesday, Jan. 19, at 6:30 p.m. at Merrimack College.

America's first parking meter was the Park-O-Meter, installed in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma on July 16, 1935. The charge was five cents.

Both Harvard and Villanova saw their records go to 2-2 as Villanova won by 26-16. Brenda Baker was all over the court in the first period to help her team race off to a 9-0 lead. Bart Kalkstein and Josh Yezerski took over for the leaders as they increased their lead to 15-2. In the second half Harvard got their game going as Mark Russell controlled the boards in addition to scoring 12 points, Curt Solomon and Dave Johnson displayed aggressive defense and Matt Perry played excellent ast the Crimson's floor leader. Doug Tyler, Mark Dodge and Jeff Leonard all played outstanding defensive games for Villanova.

Holy Cross evened their record at 2-2 by downing North Carolina 24-18. John Russell, Derek Brucato and Aleke Msumba led the Cross in the first half to an 11-5 lead. Chad Gomes and Mike Giammasi played tight defense for the leaders as did Matt Fardy and Tim Plaein for the Blue. Joe Butt and Scott VanFossen led North Carolina on offensive in the second half, but Chris Hekimian and Kurt Brucato were just too much as Holy Cross maintained a five or six point lead throughout. Lance Gomes and Jay Flannelly both played aggressive defense in the second half.

The final game of the night was also the most exciting game of the year as Dartmouth edged the fast-improving Boston College team in overtime by a 29-27 score. The first period saw Dartmouth take an 8-7 lead with Joey Tavilla getting four points. In the second period B.C. got eight points from Matt Gibson but still trailed by one point. Barry Connors had four points for Dartmouth in the second period. In the third period both teams went into a ball-control type of play that saw B.C. take the lead 19-18. David Manning and Peter Kanning for B.C. and Jeff Manning for Dartmouth did all the scoring in the third period.

The fourth period featured some great basketball by both teams and, with 26 seconds to go, B.C. held a 25-22 lead. At this point Dartmouth stole the ball and Steve Mencis found himself ahead of the pack on a fast break. As he put up the shot that was good, he was fouled. After a time out Mencis sank the foul shot to send the game into o.t. Matt Gibson, who ended up with 21 points, hit first for B.C., but David Schwind could not be stopped

Mark Jurgen, J.B. Burgess, Graham and Brett Duggan combined to take the medley relay in a come-from-behind win. Graham then won the next two events, taking the 200 free in 2:17.34 and the 200 I.M. in a remarkable 2:42.19. Duggan was third in the 200 free and the 50 free. Jurgen was third in the 50 free.

Burgess captured the diving competition with Todd Bilodeau second. Vinnie Bates was second in the 50 fly followed by David Inskeep in third. Bates also finished third in the 50 backstroke. Burgess capped off his triple win by taking first in the 50 breaststroke in :39.80.

The Class D girls swept all but one first place to defeat Lawrence 62-12. Triple winner Erika Suduiko led off the medley relay team of Lisa Fox, Cathy Burgess and Hillary Driscoll. Brenna Cronin, also a triple winner, won the 100 I.M. with Tracy Pool second. Danielle Graham led a sweep in the 50 free, winning the event in :34.32 with Fox second and Burgess third.

Suduiko continued her triple by winning the diving competition. Jennifer Butt was second and Dianne Schwarz third. Burgess returned to take the 50 fly with Driscoll third while Graham and Fox were second and third in the 100 free.

The victory in the 50 backstroke was Suduiko's third, with Fox second. Cronin continued her triple by winning the 50 yard breaststroke with Pool second. Cronin, Jennifer Munro, Pool and Graham combined to take first in the 200 yard free relay.

Sean Herlihy, Robbie Crane, Brad Cronin and Craig Der Ananian won the medley relay. Herlihy also won the 50 fly and finished third in the 100 free. Crane was second in the 50 fly and third in the 50 yard breaststroke. Cronin was third in the 50 free.

Matt MacVicar was a double winner taking the 100 I.M. in 1:22.43 and the diving competition. Dan Lennon, also a double winner, took the 100 free in 1:15.02 and the 50 backstroke in :41.09 as ANA defeated Malden/Medford 40-33.

Vani Rastogi was a triple winner in Class E. She anchored the medley relay win with Amy Hart, Laurie Condon and Michelle Graham, who won the 100 I.M. and was third in the 50 free. Hart was second in the I.M. and third in the 25 yard breaststroke. Rastogi won the 25 free in :17.28 with Kim Master third. Christine Der Ananian won the 25 yard butterfly, while Master was second in the 25 backstroke. Condon was second in the breaststroke as ANA defeated the Wahoos 37-18.

The Class E boys pulled out a squeaker to defeat Malden/Medford 35-33. Andre Koerckel won the 100 I.M. with Jamie Estabrooks in second place. Peter Master took first honors in the 25 free with Adam Robb in third place. Master followed with another win in the 25 fly with Johnny Dwight second.

Koerckel was second in the 50 free with Adam Galaburda third. Matt Jennings also scored a double win, taking the 25 yard backstroke and breaststroke events. Galaburda was second in the backstroke, while Estabrooks was third in the breaststroke event.

On Saturday the ANA boys play host to the Beverly Y.M.C.A. Barracudas while the girls travel to Beverly. Home meet begins at 1 p.m. at the Haverhill Street building. The public is invited.

Three Senior Teams Stay Unbeaten

By Rick Harrison

West Parish, St. Robert's A and St. Robert's B all remained undefeated by posting convincing victories last weekend in Andover Church Basketball League Senior Division play at the West Junior High gym.

West Parish stopped Ballardvale United, 46-22. St. Robert's A broke open a tight game in the final three minutes to upend St. Robert's C, 50-35, and St. Robert's B manhandled South Church, 58-26.

In other Senior Division action, Temple Emanuel caught fire in the final quarter enroute to a 34-27 conquest of Christ Church, and St. Augustine's B dumped intra-church rival St. Augustine's A, 34-16.

West Parish, St. Robert's A and St. Robert's B are all 3-0 to date, while St. Augustine's B and Temple stand at 2-1.

The two St. Robert's teams are scheduled to meet one another in action this Saturday at WJH, while St. Augustine's B and Temple collide next Monday night.

Temple Emanuel, 34-27

Temple and Christ Church played it close the whole way, as the score was tied 8-8 after one quarter, C-C led 18-17 at halftime and Temple enjoyed a 21-20 advantage after three periods.

The winners then followed the balanced scoring of Myles Greenberg, Eric Shanker and Erik Frank to a decisive 13-7 fourth period run.

For the game Stu Leinson and Erik Frank shared high-scoring honors for Temple with 9 points apiece, Shanker added 8, Geoff Bolan 4 and Greenberg 4.

Playing well defensively for the winners were Steve Weiner, Larry Chapper, Eric Bucholz and Sam Brooks.

Glen Livermore once again sparked the Christ Church charge with 13 points, while Roger Fisk netted 7 in the first half, Keith Dauber added 4, Bob Beanland a pair of free throws and Alan Gable a single charity toss.

West Parish, 46-22

West Parish was never in serious trouble against Ballardvale United, as Shane Smith's six first quarter points sparked the winners to an 11-6 lead which they built to 21-10 by halftime and 33-20 after three periods.

A 13-2 last quarter surge applied the finishing touches, as Jeff Poor dumped in eight points to lead the way.

Smith and Poor paced nine different West Parish players into the scoring column, both hitting double figures with 13 and 12 points respectively.

Starting forward Tom Rossbach, Rich Dunn and Steve Gemmell netted 4 points each, Eric Nickerson pumped in 3 points, and single buckets were added by Kurt Burzlaff, Kurt Nickerson and Bill O'Brien.

Turning in hustling defensive efforts were Mike Lane, Steve Redgate, Nick Coon, Leo Gravell and Scott Kelly, while Rossbach, Gemmell, Dunn and Smith were strong off the boards.

Andy Cornell topped the seven-player Ballardvale attack with 6 points, Scott Jangro and Jeff Znamierowski added 4 apiece, and single buckets were contributed by Mike Gibbons, Sharon Worcester, Brian Worcester and Dave Rehe.

John Bird also played well for BU.

St. Robert's A, 50-35

John Perry poured through 19 points, seven of them in the pivotal final quarter, as St. Robert's A beat back a stiff challenge from St. Robert's C.

The A-team raced to a 12-6 first period lead, stretched it to 20-11 at halftime, and enjoyed a 31-24 advantage entering the final stanza.

The C-crew then followed the sharpshooting of John Williams to a 9-6 rally, cutting the deficit to 37-33 with three minutes left, but Gary and Cliff Marotta, Larry Middleton and Perry combined on several fast break baskets to put the A-team back on solid ground.

Gerry Nassif and Middleton chipped in 8 points apiece for the winners, Gary Marotta notched 7, Cliff Marotta 6 and Ed Kupa a first quarter fieldgoal.

Defensive standouts included Charlie Sheehan and Dennis Sampson.

St. Robert's B, 58-26

The issue was never really in doubt here, as St. Robert's B grabbed an 11-2 first quarter lead, extended it to 27-14 by halftime, and closed South Church out with a 26-0 third period charge.

Bob Dziadosz led all marksmen with 22 points, 13 of them in the explosive third period, while Chris Arserio also hit double figures with 12 points.

River Road Building Plan Is Denied By Conservationists

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The Conservation Commission last week voted to deny without prejudice the Tambone Corporation's plans for an office and research park off River Road, on a 31-acre parcel bordering the Merrimack River.

The commission's written decision indicated that in order to gain ConComm approval, Tambone would have to make major revisions to his plans for the industrial subdivision.

According to Jonathan Gilmore, director of Community Development and Planning, Tambone indicated this week that he will redesign his plans. The developer will therefore ask for an extension on the Planning Board's Jan. 21 deadline for approving preliminary plans for the site, Gilmore added.

Wetlands make up 7.5 acres, or 24 percent, of the total site. Tambone's plans called for filling large areas of wetlands in one lot (Lot 1), and additional areas in another lot (Lot 2), using 40,000 to 50,000 cubic yards of fill. The developer had planned to divide the site into three lots (Lots 1, 2 and B) and build four buildings totalling 300,000 square feet.

The conservationists found that the proposal was "incomplete" and "not in compliance with the statutory regulations" because some needed information was missing or incomplete. For example, according to the written decision, Tambone's plans failed to indicate the location of wetlands as "delineated on the Town of Andover wetlands maps."

However, the commission noted that based on the information provided, it appeared that the developer's plans could have "adverse impacts to significant wetlands areas regarding flood storage, storm damage protection, groundwater protection, and prevention of pollution."

In its decision, the commission pointed out that the wetlands on the site function as a holding area for a 400-acre watershed, lessening the impact of peak stormwater runoff flows. The wetlands also filter silt sediment and other water-borne pollutants carried down from the watershed area.

Gilmore explained that the "basic problem" with Tambone's plans is the developer's failure to provide "compensatory storage" — new water retention areas to make up for the wetlands he would fill. "If you're going to fill wetlands, you must provide that storage somewhere else," the director said.

He added that the conservation commission is also concerned about the impact that future development in the area, combined with the Tambone proposal, will have on the river.

The commissioners ruled that they would review "without prejudice" revised plans that call for less dramatic alterations to the wetlands and "concentrate development on the upland areas of Lots 2 and B or show compensatory wetlands and flood storage outside the Flood Plain boundaries."

Among the information the commission said should be included in a revised submittal: more specifics on how the site will be developed in the future. Tambone has indicated definite plans for Lot 1 only, but the commissioners would like to see information on potential grading and drainage for Lots 2 and B as well, "and some indications as to how this increased runoff will be handled."

The project design should also include methods to protect the surface water from contamination by "de-icing chemicals and potential oil or gas spills and drippings," the commission found.

The conservation commission ruling was mailed to Tambone Jan. 5; he has ten days from that date to respond. Gilmore said that during a meeting with the town manager Tuesday morning, Tambone indicated that he intended to redesign his plans.

During a public hearing before the planning board last month, some River Road residents objected to plans for the office and research park, saying increased industrial development would cause more traffic problems in their area.

The selectmen will hold a meeting on plans to improve River Road to accommodate industrial growth at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 24, at Memorial Hall Library.

Stop Smoking

The Barry Beder Stop Smoking and Weight Loss Hypnosis clinics will be held at the Sheraton Rolling Green in Andover on Tuesday, Jan. 25. The Stop Smoking program begins at 7 p.m. and the Weight Loss program begins at 8:30 p.m.

Smokers who try to end their nasty habit find out that it's easy to put out the cigarette, but not so easy to put out the cravings. Smokers are hooked on many levels.

According to Barry Beder, hypnotherapist and program director, "First, there is nicotine withdrawal, that's the physical part. Then there is the buildup of habit patterns that have occurred over the years. That's what makes you crave a cigarette with coffee or drinks or when the telephone rings. Finally, there is the psychological dependency that occurs with smokers. That's what causes a smoker to feel relaxed or comforted by the cigarette."

Beder, with the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan, will present new research findings at the next World Conference on Smoking and Health.

He has developed a Stop Smoking program that focuses on all three aspects of quitting.

Winter Driving Tips

Winter is here, but by the weather we have had we all have probably thought spring had sprung. The roads have been good thus we really haven't thought of driving in the snow. This can be attested to by the number of accidents reported on the few icy days we had.

"I would like to cover some recommendations developed by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards," Andover Safety Officer Joe Ouellette said.

A major safeguard is the type of tire and traction you put between your vehicle and the ice and snow. For example, radial tires with a standard highway tread will act as a regular highway tire in winter-slick surfaces. Conventional snow tires without studs are actually slightly inferior in stopping ability on ice when compared to regular tires. Snow tires perform better on loosely packed snow where they produce 50 percent better pulling or traction ability than a regular highway tire. On ice, traction ability of snow tires is about 28 percent better than regular tires. Studded snow tires on drive wheels reduce stopping on ice by about 19 percent. The old standby, tire chains, are still the best. They reduce braking distance on ice by about 50 percent.

Ouellette said, "I would like to caution that snow tires must be radials if the other tires on the non-drive wheels are radials; otherwise, a dangerous fish-tailing or instability can result."

Getting the feel of the road is another recommended practice. Tap the brakes or use a short burst of acceleration to find out if and when the tires slide or spin, naturally away from traffic. When they do, you must slow down and do all maneuvering with a delicate touch on the steering wheel, the accelerator and the brake pedal. Another must is keeping windshield, windows and all lights clean and clear at all times. Many accidents are caused by restricted visibility. Replace wiper blades that have hardened and cracked and make sure windshield washer solution contains adequate anti-freeze.

Don't forget your heater-defroster system; it must be able to clear fog, frost and slush off your windshield rapidly. Please remember, if you must drive in snow and ice, give yourself plenty of travel time. Let's make this year a safer one than the last with common sense and courtesy. Have a safe and happy new year.

The brown Indian muntjac, or barking deer, is said to bark like a dog. The buck is 30 inches tall and has two-tined antlers, about four inches long.

SAAB HAS MORE CARGO SPACE THAN BMW, AUDI, AND VOLVO. COMBINED.

Flip down the back seat of a Saab, and you get 56.5 cubic feet of cargo space (53 in a 4-door model).

Now compare that to the 16 cubic feet you get in an Audi 5000. The 6.60 you get in a Mercedes 450 SL. Even the posh 22.5 you get in a BMW 733i (and see how much good posh does you when you're packing up the summer house).

Of course, you can't flip down the back seat of any of these cars. So they might say Saab has an unfair advantage.

We couldn't agree more.

Additional Funding Could Put 300-Car Garage In Center

A $375,000 boost to $840,000 in state funds Andover won last summer may lead to major changes to plans for a new downtown parking garage, the town manager said yesterday.

Former Governor Edward King awarded the town an $840,000 revenue bond issue in August to help fund a $1.2 million, 200-space parking garage. The current plan is to build that two-deck parking garage under a new Memorial Hall Library addition, now in the planning stages.

And on his last day in office last week, the former governor added another $375,000 to the bond issue, after town officials made a last-minute application for additional funds.

With the new funding, officials are now thinking of building the parking garage behind Town Hall, according to Town Manager Kenneth Mahony. That would require using space in the recently-abandoned Heartland Jr. parking lot. (The grocery store closed its door on Christmas Eve.)

Mahony said that would leave the renovated library with just surface parking.

The manager said he would like to see 300 new spaces added behind Town Hall, but that would cost more than $1 million. "We'll see what we can do with it," Mahony said. "We have architects working on it now."

Whatever parking plans Andover officials come up with, town meeting will have final approval: Voters must appropriate matching funds to help pay for the project.

The downtown garage is expected to cost the town $350,000, or 30 percent of the total funding.

will also learn a Greek line dance or two.

Belly dancing is an intriguing dance to watch as well as to perform. Persons interested in registering for this course may do so at the DCS office, Shawsheen School, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Hayscales Courses

The Hayscales Exchange of North Andover has announced the start of its mini-courses for the winter, beginning this week.

For more information, contact the Hayscales Exchange at 2 Johnson St., North Andover.

Belly Dancing Course Is Offered

The Department of community Services is offering a Belly Dancing Course beginning Monday, Jan. 24. The class will be held on eight consecutive Mondays from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the Bancroft School.

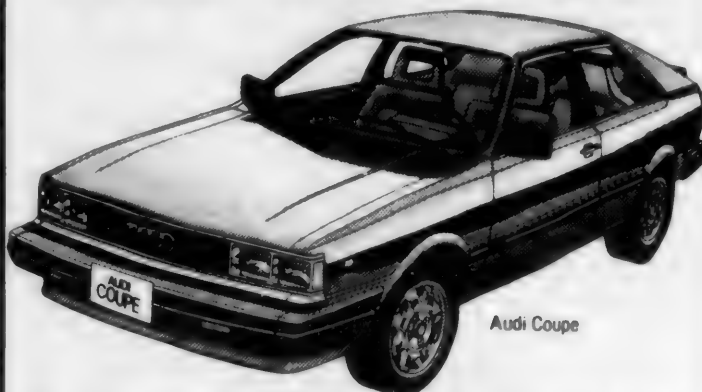

Diana Webber, instructor, has studied Middle Eastern dancing or belly dancing for the past eight years from several dancers in the Boston area. Her professional name is Dunia, an Arabic word which means "the world."

Dunia has danced professionally in Greek and Middle Eastern clubs for four years and has taught the art of belly dancing for three years at health spas, dance studios, the Reading YMCA and privately.

The class will introduce students to the mystical charms of Middle East music, the graceful movements of the veil, the brass finger cymbals with their varied rhythms and the many snake-like and fluid movements of the body, even a stomach flutter. If class time permits, the students

A hearty appetite begins with appetizers; they include lobster or shrimp cocktail, chicken wings, clams casino or mushrooms a la Greque. The appetizer will be followed by salad or soup—delicious Greek Villager's salad is offered as well as fresh garden salad, fetta cheese and olives and soup du jour.

A variety of foods from the sea are also available, including every type of seafood imaginable, served fried, broiled or baked.

As well as baked stuffed lobster and jumbo shrimp fresh from the ocean, Spyro's serves beautifully grained, heavy-cut sirloin, roast prime rib of beef, center cut pork chops and thick broiled chops cut from young lamb.

An array of ethnic foods are available as the chef's suggestions: Shish-ke-bob, containing tender pieces of lamb charbroiled on a skewer, and tempting Italian breaded veal parmesan made with only the freshest, most tender veal, are only a few.

As well as their diverse menu, Spyro's offers unusual and delicious "Specials" which change daily. Stop by for lunch some day soon. Or make it the place for your next occasion. Spyro's can accommodate up to 300 people in their beautiful Gold Room overlooking the Merrimack River. (Call the Banquet Manager at 688-0659).

Neighbors Object To Paving Road

Developer Arthur Kalogianis would like to connect the two sections of his Olympic Village subdivision with a paved roadway, but some Woburn Street neighbors don't think that's a good idea — and neither does the Planning Board.

Olympic Village, approved by the planners more than a year ago, consists of two cul-de-sacs: one off Woburn Street near Rattlesnake Hill Road, and one off River Street.

The two dead-ends are now connected only by an unpaved emergency access for fire and police vehicles. Engineer Paul Ferrante of Dana F. Perkins Associates Tuesday night told the planners that the developer would like to pave that roadway.

"Mr. Kalogianis now feels that it would be difficult to have two separate sections in one subdivision," Ferrante said. He pointed out that residents of the cul-de-sac off Woburn Street would have to drive up Woburn, onto Andover Street and down River Street to get to the other cul-de-sac.

But planner Andrew Girdwood said paving the roadway now would not "make sense. The reasons given for not paving it in the first place are still valid."

Kalogianis' original subdivision plan called for building a street connecting Woburn and River streets, rather than two separate cul-de-sacs. But abutters objected because they said it would create traffic problems, and the planners agreed.

Tuesday night, a small group of neighbors appeared before the board to repeat their objections.

"There's a tremendous amount of traffic waiting to make a left turn onto River Street and head for Lowell Junction," Judith Lugus of Foster's Pond told the board. "I'm sure those cars would be real happy to find that there was another route in."

Other residents said a connecting roadway would increase existing problems with truck traffic, racing, and traffic turning from Rattlesnake Hill Road.

"It looks rather hazardous," planner

Margaret Bradshaw agreed.

She added that the plan would require paving across the green area left as permanent open space in the cluster development. "I would consider that a major precedent," Bradshaw said. "We have enough problems with green areas."

Chairman Jerry Greer told Ferrante it was the "sense of the board" that they would oppose paving the roadway.

But if Kalogianis decides to proceed with his plan, he would have to file an amendment to his approved definitive subdivision plan, and the planners would call a formal public hearing to review the proposal.

New Facility Will Treat Lumber

The York Wholesale Co., Inc., a distributor of lumber and plywood products, has received a foundation permit to begin construction of a lumber treating facility at the company's 125 Tewksbury St. location in Andover.

The $500,000 facility will pressure-treat lumber with the C.C.A. chemical (chromated copper arsenate) to prolong the life of wood used in ground contact and in moist conditions.

Ground breaking for the project could begin next week, and the plant could be in operation by April 1, according to Joseph Kuczynski, York Co. sales manager.

The C.C.A. pressure treating facility will be the most efficient and environmentally safe, state-of-the-art plant available, reported John Pondelli, Jr., company president.

The C.C.A. chemical is applied by pressure as a waterborne solution to lumber and plywood in a closed retort. The non-leacha-ble, permanent, clean, odorless properties of the C.C.A. chemical make it safe to handle by builders and homeowners.

Though the lumber industry has been in steep recession, due to the decline of housing starts, pressure treated lumber sales to homeowners and builders have increased ten-fold in the last five years.

York Wholesale will distribute their C.C.A. treated lumber under the SUPA-TIMBER trademark, which carries a 30-year limited warranty.

This new service, along with many other plywood specialty items, makes York Wholesale a leading wholesaler, servicing the lumber industry in a market area of a 120-mile radius of Boston.

York Wholesale is an independently-owned wholesale distributor. This is the company's third year in Andover, according to Kuczynski, who said York Wholesale's previous location was in Watertown.

Down The Years

10 Years Ago — January 1973

Phillips Academy is undergoing major rearrangement of its central administration in order to meet two challenges — the increased workload resulting from the combination of Phillips and Abbot Academies into a single 1180-member school next September, and a 1978 bicentennial celebration which will undoubtedly culminate a major fund drive for the new coeducational P.A.

A hearing of proposed changes in the town manager charter Monday night evoked little interest as the Selectmen listened to comments, then deferred action to the March town meeting. Of some interest was the proposal by Selectman Milton Greenberg to affirm the board's position as the town policy making board.

Dr. Richard A. Katz has announced his decision not to seek re-election to a third term on the Andover School Committee. "I have decided not to run," Katz told the TOWNSMAN, "because of the increased demands on my professional time, and my desire to spend more time with my family." Dr. Katz has been a school committee member for six years, and was chairman of the committee for two of those years.

MECHANIC'S LIENS

The term "mechanic's lien" is often heard in the areas of building and construction. The term "mechanic" is actually used in a very general sense. It applies to all laborers, contractors, and workers (also called material men) who perform labor during the construction of a building.

A mechanic's lien falls under the general category of judgments, and means that people who have furnished labor and materials in order to build something have a claim on the property. The right to file this lien is given by statute, and the contractor or laborer could get one on property if the owner doesn't pay him for work performed. It is, in a sense, much like a mortgage, and in some states it can be foreclosed.

Mechanic's liens are one of a number of items - including other types of liens - that could make a title unmarketable. A home buyer must always bear in mind that he has the right to get a title that is free and clear of all mortgages, liens, etc. One of our responsibilities as Realtors is to make sure that home buyers don't get "stung" with liens on their property. Advice of your attorney is warranted in this situation as there are legal ways to clear the title before closing.

allow them to build a 48-unit townhouse development on White's 18-acre Andover Street parcel.

Special town meeting voted against rezoning that single-family residential parcel for multiple-family use. Single-family houses are currently under construction on the site.

And the following spring, annual town meeting rejected the Planning Board's proposal for a new multi-family zone that would include other parts of town.

The developer said he thought Wynwood's new plan might fare better with town meeting because the site is smaller — and he asked for the planners' full support. "We're not going to go through what we went through before," Wacome said. "We don't want a battle."

At first glance the new plan looks good, the planners indicated, especially because it features one-unit-per-acre density.

But they explained that nothing has changed since the 1982 annual meeting: Andover still has no zoning that allows new townhouse development, and there's little reason to believe that town meeting would agree to rezone one parcel.

They offered one ray of hope, however — the comprehensive plan that town officials are now updating. A task force studying housing for the plan may propose a new multi-family zone for town meeting approval, the planners noted — but not this year.

Wacome said he would have to decide whether to wait for future town meeting action on a multi-family zone, or develop the land into a 23-lot cluster development of single-family homes.

Wynwood currently has 11 acres of the site under a sale agreement with George Nason of Andover. The remaining five acres now belong to the Taylor family of Charlotte Drive.

The builder said a multi-family development would be good for the town because it would offer "affordable" housing, more open space, and less roadway.

Planner Andrew Girdwood said he believes that "this type of development makes sense, because there is less land disturbance."

And Margaret Bradshaw agreed, saying that "no matter what the pricetag" on townhouse units, some sites are better suited to condominium than single-family development.

"Density," the planner said, "is the big issue."

To Discuss River Road Traffic

Traffic on River Road will be the main subject of the next selectmen's meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 24, at Memorial Hall Library.

Consultants from Vanesse/Hangen Associates of Boston, hired by the town to study potential traffic problems on River Road, will present the results of a recent traffic survey.

The study deals with the traffic that could be generated by industries planning to build along River Road near the Lawrence line — and changes that could be made to the roadway to accommodate increased industrial traffic.

The consultants offered a preview of their presentation to the Planning Board two weeks ago, in light of the Tambone Corporation's current proposal to build a 31-acre office and research park off River Road.

Elders To See 'Evita'

The Andover Council on Aging will sponsor a trip to see "Evita" at the Shubert Theatre on Wednesday, Jan. 19.

The play is based on the life of Eva Peron, the second wife of Argentine dictator, Juan Peron. It is the story of a girl from the most mundane of backgrounds who became the most powerful woman her country (and indeed Latin America) had ever seen, a woman never content to be a mere ornament at the side of her husband, the president. Her death of cancer in 1952 at the age of 33 ensured that she became a legend.

London policemen are often called "bobbies" after Sir Robert Peel, the British statesman who organized the London police force.
